

MB Newsletter for Eastern Europe

Introduction

Dear Partners,

The Honeywell Eastern Europe team just held a very successful Partner+ sixth Annual Conference in Catania, Sicily, and is already preparing the next set of trainings and presentations in line with Honeywell Security Academy.

I discussed with some of you the main selling points for our MB solution, and understood that it's primarily around integration. Why? Because it adds value to our clients. Having a single point of control over all the systems can help the client to work more efficiently. Having all systems from Honeywell enables you to use the latest updates, e.g. as you may know, our MAXPRO® NVR has life time free upgrade, so you can expect new functionalities integrated all of the time.

To make our newsletter more interactive, we decided to prepare a little questionnaire. The third person who answers us correctly will receive a gift.

We look forward to meeting you at our events.

Best Regards,
Radim Roček

Question of the month:

How many equip S cameras do you need to buy to get MAXPRO NVR software 16 channel free?

New products information

New MB-Secure Video Option

Video clips can be automatically recorded on a USB Flash inserted into the MB-Secure main board. This means that clips are stored safely in the panel housing. MB-Secure can control recording from up to 4 Honeywell IP cameras with HD quality, clip length is 1 minute, and clip recording can start before chosen event and finish after the event.

MB-Secure always records the video clips from a defined IP camera when a certain event happens in the intrusion system. Events that start the clips include an alarm, disarming, door release, or any other event.

Video clips and also live views from cameras are available via web browser for approved persons. Recorded clips can be downloaded.

New functionality Tuxedo Touch

Tuxedo Touch is a touch sensitive keypad with intuitive maintenance. It allows to control partitions, to disable groups of detectors, to clear alarms, to read out history and various maintenance of the alarm system. The keypad works without identification or with a card or PIN identification of users.

The newest functionality is an ability to change the language of keypad automatically, and is related to the user's nationality/language. After the user identifies himself/herself, the individual keypad communicates with the user in his/her language. The first version is available in Czech, English, German, Italian and Russian languages.

An LCD keypad with LEDs and control buttons can equally change the language, similar to Tuxedo Touch.
