Product – Part affected:
Nano commissioning tool licences expiring.

Details:

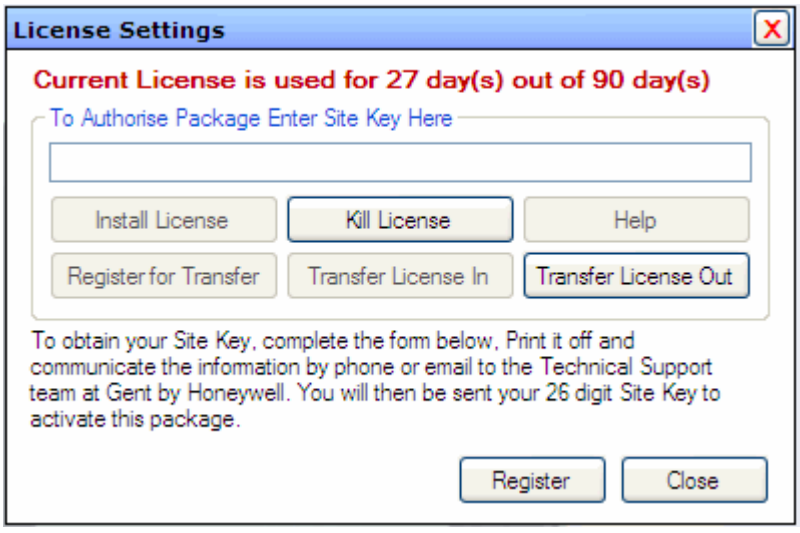

It has been noticed that there is no warning that the licence on the Nano commissioning tool is about to run out.
The tool will just stop allowing you to send or retrieve when the licence expires with the send retrieve icons being greyed out.

(picture above shows icons in top tool bar when they are operational, these will turn to gray when licence expires)

Action:

If you go to the licence form (top tool bar "settings, licence setting") you can see how long you have left on your licence.

Please note the first number is the number of days used; you need to work out the number of day s left by subtracting this from the length of licence given.

This issue will be resolved in the next releases off comm. tool

Please ensure all relevant staff are aware of this issue
